"Generous bedrooms, a heated outdoor pool and a wonderful seafront location at the heart of one of the Costa Del Sol's most attractive resorts"

Benalmádena

One of the most sophisticated resorts on the Costa del Sol, Benalmádena is home to a wonderfully chic marina surrounded by enticing restaurants, bars and boutiques. Its delightful 7-kilometre long seafront promenade links it with nearby Torremolinos, offering the possibility of romantic sunset strolls or invigorating daytime exercise.

Situated only 25 minutes from Malaga airport, it is well-connected by rail and bus to many nearby places of interest, and also affords easy access to a wide variety of bowling greens.

Málaga Alcázar

The Costa Del Sol

The Costa del Sol is defined first and foremost by its climate, boasting an average of 320 cloud-free days a year, warm and luminously bright, yet rarely overly hot, due to the pleasantly tempering effects of the Mediterranean and its mountain backdrop.

It has also been blessed by history, being the area of Spain where the colourful artistic influence of the magnificent European Moorish empire of the middle ages is most consistently felt in terms of its architectural heritage and flamboyant flamenco culture. A laissez-faire friendliness and quasi-Arabian culture of warm hospitality have also contributed to the region's appeal, as has its highly developed tourism infrastructure.

It is also a wonderful destination for bowls tours, with no less than five bowls clubs located in a variety of settings within an hour's drive of each other.

Optional Excursion Possibilities

Magical Mijas:

Mijas, a 'Pueblo Blanco' (white hill town), oozes Spanish authenticity, offering streetfuls of traditional architecture, a beautiful begardened parish church, and the remnants of a castle that once held invaders at bay. It retains an active donkey taxi community. When your legs begin to tire choose from a vast array of attractive restaurants and bars offering splendid views over the surrounding countryside.

Millionaire's Marbella:

The elegant resort of Marbella is renowned as the playground for the rich and famous. The beautiful Sierra Blanca Mountains provide a wonderful backdrop and create a lovely natural setting for this luxurious resort. The historic part of town, sits on a beautiful bay, sheltering lovely corners of a typically Andalusian flavour, with whitewashed houses and orange trees adorning the streets and squares.

Moorish Málaga:

Moorish Málaga is a delightful city in which to explore, shop, and relax and its picturesque fortifications remain one of its most identifiable features. Our visit here begins with the Moorish Alcázar, an enchantingly landscaped palace-cum-fortress, featuring formal gardens and Moorish water features. Next we visit the interior of Málaga's highly impressive Renaissance cathedral prior to time at leisure for private explorations.
