Hotel Best Siroco ★★★★★

In 1971 the Hotel Siroco entered a Costa del Sol beautiful gardens competition and won. Since that date its wonderful mature tropical gardens have been its emblem and the very first thing that comes to mind when one hears mention of its name. In 2017 a significant renovation of the entire hotel modernized both its look and installations and it has been scoring highly for customer satisfaction ever since. Although not a seafront hotel, it is seaward facing, and offers beautiful uninterrupted sea views from its gardens. Benalmádena's seafront promenade lies a 10-minute stroll from the hotel grounds, and its delightfully landscaped Paloma Park lies only 15 to 20 minutes away. All Personal Touch Holidays guests will be upgraded free of charge to superior rooms with views of the gardens, the sea, or both.

Benalmádena

The Hotel Siroco sits at the very heart of Benalmádena, close to its main street, and only a 10 minute stroll from the seafront promenade. A wide selection of bars and restaurants lies close at hand as do supermarkets and a bank. In addition to its attractive seafront promenade, Benalmádena also offers a beautifully landscaped public park. And, for a taste of typical timeless whitewashed Andalusia, a visit to the original hillside village of Benalmádena Pueblo is highly recommended, as is a cable car ride to the summit of the mountain on which Benalmádena Pueblo sits.

Picturesque Whitewashed Mijas

The Costa Del Sol

The Costa del Sol is defined first and foremost by its climate, boasting an average of 320 cloud-free days a year, warm and luminously bright, yet rarely overly hot, due to the pleasantly tempering effects of the Mediterranean and its mountain backdrop.

It has also been blessed by history, being the area of Spain where the colourful artistic influence of the magnificent European Moorish empire of the middle ages is most consistently felt in terms of its architectural heritage and flamboyant flamenco culture. A laissez-faire friendliness and quasi-Arabian culture of warm hospitality have also contributed to the region's appeal, as has its highly developed tourism infrastructure.

It is also a wonderful destination for bowls tours, with no less than five bowls clubs located in a variety of settings within an hour's drive of each other.

Optional Excursion Possibilities

Magical Mijas:

Mijas, a 'Pueblo Blanco' (white hill town), oozes Spanish authenticity, offering streetfuls of traditional architecture, a beautiful begardened parish church, and the remnants of a castle that once held invaders at bay. It retains an active donkey taxi community. When your legs begin to tire choose from a vast array of attractive restaurants and bars offering splendid views over the surrounding countryside.

Millionaire's Marbella:

The elegant resort of Marbella is renowned as the playground for the rich and famous. The beautiful Sierra Blanca Mountains provide a wonderful backdrop and create a lovely natural setting for this luxurious resort. The historic part of town, sits on a beautiful bay, sheltering lovely corners of a typically Andalusian flavour, with whitewashed houses and orange trees adorning the streets and squares.

Moorish Málaga:

Moorish Málaga is a delightful city in which to explore, shop, and relax and its picturesque fortifications remain one of its most identifiable features. Our visit here begins with the Moorish Alcázar, an enchantingly landscaped palace-cum-fortress, featuring formal gardens and Moorish water features. Next we visit the interior of Málaga's highly impressive Renaissance cathedral prior to time at leisure for private explorations.
